1. A Statement of Principles

The ethos of Northbourne Park School aims to create amongst all who work or study here mutual respect and understanding of the needs of others. The School recognises that good order and discipline are essential to the provision of high standards of education. Pupils cannot learn, and teachers cannot teach, where appropriate standards of behaviour are not normal.

The School acknowledges:

- The importance of Government guidance on Bullying, including Don't Suffer in Silence(2002), Safeguarding Children in Education (2004), Healthy Minds (2005) and Tackling Cyber-bullying (2006) and Safe to Learn - Embedding Anti-Bullying Work in schools'.
- The significance of the Bradford Smart judgement (2002) that a school may, on occasion, be in breach of its duty of care if it fails to take such steps as are within its power "to combat harmful behaviour of one pupil towards another even when they are outside school"
- That a strong and effective management team, working in partnership with teachers, is essential to the establishment and maintenance of acceptable standards of behaviour.
- That Governors have a responsibility to support the school in maintaining high standards of behaviour.
- That pupils are entitled to a safe, and orderly, learning environment to assist them in achieving their full potential.
- That parents and/or guardians have an important role to play in supporting the school in its work to maintain high standards of behaviour. Consistency between school and parent expectations of behaviour is essential.

Bullying is an insidious form of behaviour that has no place at Northbourne Park School. The school is committed to combating bullying and this policy recognises the need to respect and support each individual in this area. To this end it believes that:

- i. Physical, verbal or emotional abuse of any member of the community is not acceptable at the school. Such behaviour is regarded as a most serious breach of school discipline.
- ii. All instances of bullying behaviour should be reported.

The school undertakes to ensure that:

All reported instances of bullying will be recorded and appropriate action will be taken.

- Help will be made available both to the victim(s) and to the bully(ies).
- The school seeks to prevent bullying by developing sound positive relationships between people using all the resources available to it as a school.

It aims also to raise the self-esteem of each individual and actively support each pupil at each stage of his/her development. The Form teacher is charged with the overall care and welfare of a pupil.

The school places the highest priority on the effective communication, implementation and maintenance of its anti-bullying strategy throughout the school community, through the publication of this document digitally on the School Intranet (for staff) or on the school website, (for all current and prospective and parents and pupils) and through hard paper copies available from the School Office. Advice for pupils is also printed in the prep Diaries, (see below.)

2. Aims and Objectives of the Anti-Bullying Policy: the Safety of Pupils

- To define clearly those actions which the school understands as 'bullying' and to present this to pupils, school employees and parents.
- To demonstrate that Northbourne Park School takes bullying seriously and will not tolerate it.
- To establish measures to prevent all forms of bullying throughout the school, in its boarding houses, and on off-site activities.
- To support those involved in actions to identify and protect those pupils who might be bullied or who disclose experiences of bullying.
- To demonstrate that the safety, happiness and educational success of pupils is enhanced by dealing positively with bullying.
- To encourage pupils to tell someone that they, or someone they know, is being bullied.

3. A Definition of Bullying

Bullying occurs when someone is intentionally made to feel physically or mentally injured. Bullying can cause serious psychological damage and even suicide (although bullying is not a specific criminal offence there are criminal laws which apply to harassment and threatening behaviour.

- It is meant to be hurtful
- It may be physical (e.g. hitting, kicking, spitting)
- It may be verbal (e.g. teasing, spreading rumours)
- It may be indirect (e.g. excluding someone by not talking to them or leaving them out of a group)
- It may be manipulative (e.g. getting someone else to tease or hit someone).
- It may involve complicity in someone else's action (e.g. as a bystander who looks the other way).
- It may be racial, religious, cultural, sexual / sexist, homophobic, Special Educational Needs related, disability and cyber (social websites, mobile phones, text messages, photographs and email).

Bullying is often hidden. It may involve actions or comments that are racially deprecatory, sexist, homophobic or which focus on disabilities. It can happen anywhere and at any time.

Physical Bullying

This may involve:

- Hitting or kicking someone
- Jostling, bumping, or pushing someone.
- Spitting at someone
- Invading someone's body space
- Physically humiliating someone
- Firing darts or pellets at someone
- Taking or damaging or hiding someone's property.
- Invading someone's living space or intruding on their space.

If physical bullying involves assault, actual bodily harm or wounding it is a criminal offence.

Verbal Bullying

This may involve:

- Spoken comments
- Written notes
- Emails or text messages
- Improper use of social networking websites
- Phone calls
- The defacing of notices
- Name-calling, spreading rumours, publicly blaming someone for something they haven't done
- Circulating unflattering drawings or photographic images of someone

Indirect or Manipulative Bullying

This may involve:

- Ostracising a fellow-pupil by refusing to sit alongside him/her in class, in the Dining Room, etc. (or by moving away when he/she comes and sits down).
- The manipulation of social networks to ostracise, marginalize or intimidate individuals
- Encouraging others to become the agents of physical or verbal bullying against one's intended victim.

Racist, Sexist or Homophobic Bullying etc.

Racism, sexism, homophobia and the exploitation of disability are palpably in conflict with the school's policy on Equal Opportunities, and contrary to its social and moral principles. Bullying that focuses on an individual's body shape, appearance, hair colour or alleged sexual attractiveness (or lack of it) similarly are contrary to the school's Equal Opportunities policy and in conflict with its social and moral principles.

Bullying of this sort may include:

- Spoken comments about someone (their friends or a member of their family), or about some group of students
- Written notes about someone (their friends or a member of their family), or about some group of students
- Emails, web postings or text messages about someone (their friends or a member of their family), or about some group of students
- Phone calls about someone (their friends or a member of their family), or about some group of students

- The defacing of notices with snide remarks about someone (their friends or a member of their family), or about some group of students.

The school is also aware of the pernicious effects of cultural, religious and cyber bullying and the opportunities exist for bullies to manipulate relationships through email, websites and social networking sites. The Headmaster regularly briefs the school on the inherent dangers of this kind of communication, which also forms part of the Prep School e-safety course at the beginning of each year.

All teachers and particularly Form Tutors need to be proactive in listening and asking the right questions concerning this more hidden and insidious form of bullying. Form Tutors should make it their business to ask pupils about their involvement in Facebook and as to whether they are comfortable with it.

4. Signs and Symptoms of Bullying

A child may indicate by signs or behaviour that he/she is being bullied. Parents and teachers should be aware of these possible signs and they should investigate if a child:

- Is unwilling to return to school from home
- Becomes withdrawn or anxious as a period at home draws to a close

5. A Statement of Intent

Northbourne Park School is committed to providing a caring, friendly, and safe environment for all its pupils, so they can learn in a relaxed and secure atmosphere. Bullying of any kind is unacceptable at this school. The school recognises that there are strong bonds of loyalty between friends, but bullying is too damaging to be kept hidden. Ours is an OPEN SCHOOL. This means that anyone who knows that bullying is happening is expected to mention it to an adult they trust. This is NOT "dobbing in" or "grassing".

6. Anti-Bullying Education

The school will raise the awareness of the nature, causes and the anti-social quality of bullying through its PSHE programme, school assemblies, chapel and Form Tutorials.

The Senior Master is responsible for initiating and developing an anti-bullying programme both at the beginning of each academic year, enlisting the ideas of the pupils to combat bullying, and also as part of the PSHE programme.

The Houseparent is responsible for ensuring that anti-bullying material is covered in discussions between pupils and house tutors.

Heads of Department are responsible for identifying areas within the subject curriculum that offer opportunities for the discussion material that may be significant in situations where bullying could arise (e.g.: race in Geography; sexual orientation in Biology; culture in Religious Studies). The pedagogic methodology used in their department should be developed to foster positive relations between people.

Teachers must exploit every opportunity to promote the school's anti-bullying strategy, within the classroom. They must not avoid the discussion of bullying when it is pertinent (but must consider carefully the most appropriate strategy for developing any discussion).

Throughout the curriculum it is expected that classroom organisation and management promote co-operative activity and discussion among pupils. All teachers responsible for ensuring that students learn to listen to one another, to respect opinions they do not themselves hold, and for fostering an appropriate degree of assertiveness that permits students to express their own opinions.

7. Procedures

Suspicion of Bullying

Pupils who are being bullied may show changes in behaviour (see section 4). All staff should be aware of the possible implication of such behaviour change and report promptly any suspicions of bullying using the Notifiable Incidents Form. Parents too should be aware of the possible implication of such behaviour change: they may wish to discuss their observations with their son/daughter or may choose to report any suspicions to the pupil's Form Teacher.

When a Form Teacher is advised of suspicions that a pupil is being bullied he/she will always inform the Senior Master / Deputy Head and Headmaster using the Notifiable Incidents Form, and in particular:

- Make a note of the reported suspicion on the Pupil File (dating the entry).
- Assess the suspicions in the light of their own observations of the pupil's behaviour and make a note of their evaluation on the Pupil File.
- Consider as to whether there are any Special Needs considerations which might be relevant.
- Make appropriate enquiries of the pupil (either directly, or indirectly through the pupil's Form Tutor) and record the result of those enquiries on the Pupil File (dating the entry).
- Alert the pupil's Form Tutor to the report and the result of subsequent enquiries
- If the pupil acknowledges that he/she is being bullied, follow the procedure outlined at 8.2
- If the pupil denies that he/she is being bullied, consider alerting subject teachers or matrons of the need to keep a quiet eye on the pupil
- Remind all parties alerted that they should inform the Form Teacher of any grounds for persisting or developing concerns

Disclosure of Bullying by one who considers himself/herself a victim

Disclosure to a teacher, a tutor, a matron, a doctor, peripatetic music staff or a member of the school's support staff or to a parent.

The person hearing the disclosure will:

- Always take what is said seriously
- Not promise to keep secret what is said secret
- Reassure the pupil that disclosure is in line with the school's Statement of Intent (Section 5)
- Listen without initially making notes
- Determine what action the pupils would like to see taken
- Explain what will happen next (the Senior Master / Deputy Head must be informed as quickly as possible: no-one who is not directly involved in the care of the child should be informed)
- Ensure that the pupils feels safe and is not in danger of significant harm
- Once the initial disclosure is concluded, make a record of key points: what happened, who was involved, who saw what happened, where it happened, previous occasions when it has happened
- Pass the record of the disclosure (signed and dated) to the Form Tutor / Senior Master / Deputy Head / Headmaster using a Notifiable Incident Form and any extra notes you have taken.

The Teaching staff will always complete a Notifiable Incident Form.

- In cases where serious bullying is disclosed consider attempting to ring the pupil's parents or guardians as soon as possible explaining what has come to light and outlining the way in which matters will be taken forward. Inform the Headmaster of your intentions beforehand.
- Consider the disclosure in the light of their own knowledge of the pupil's life and note any thoughts on the record. Any available observations from the parents should also be noted (dating the entries)
- Considerations of the pupils' special educational Needs might be relevant, for example in the case of ADHD, Autistic spectrum, dyslexia or other conditions.
- Go through the recorded disclosure with the pupil, making sure it is both full and accurate, and discussing any other thoughts the disclosure has brought to mind

- Evaluate the pupil's emotional state, reassuring him/her that it is always right to disclose bullying (as specified in the Statement of Intent), and giving priority to stabilising the pupil's emotions and protecting him/her from further trauma
- The teacher should seek out the pupil at fairly frequent intervals over the next few weeks to ensure that all is well and make a written note of each contact

The Senior Master / Deputy Head will:

The Senior Master / Deputy Head will seek advice with parents to develop support for the victim, calling upon some (or all of the following): matrons, tutors, teachers. Ongoing discussion to support and monitor the state of the victim will be essential.

1. Contact the Headmaster to discuss the way in which the issue will be taken forward. (The Headmaster may wish to talk to the pupil, or may proceed on the basis of the written records of the disclosure).
2. Ring the pupil's parents to inform or to up-date them and to let them know the matter is now in the hands of the Senior Master / Deputy Head.
3. Examine the written records of the disclosure and discuss matters further with the pupil.
4. Interview those alleged to have bullied the pupil. In particular, they will initially be interviewed privately (not as a group) and where appropriate, supported by their Form Tutor or by another teacher acceptable to them. The supporting teacher will keep notes of the interview.
5. Determine any punishment that is appropriate in consultation with the Form Teacher, which in severe case or in cases of repeated bullying could attract strong sanctions including in the most severe case, permanent exclusion of the bully from the school.

Witnessing an incident that prima facie involves bullying

A teacher who witnesses an incident that prima facie involves bullying should deal with the incident immediately and directly.

A teacher should:

- NEVER IGNORE any behaviour that is prima facie (i.e. on the face of it) bullying.
- Challenge behaviour that is prima facie bullying.
- If satisfied that the behaviour is not intended to cause physical or mental injury, explain how the behaviour might cause such injury, and ensure that the student is clear that such behaviour is not to be repeated.
- If inclined to believe that the behaviour is intended to cause physical or mental injury, challenge it and apply an appropriate sanction
- Report the incident to the Form Teacher of those involved noting any punishments given. If satisfied that the incident involved bullying, report it to the Form Tutor using a 'Notifiable Offences Form'.

Advice to Pupils (Printed in the Prep Diary)

We all know that bullying goes on in every school but it's the way it's dealt with which makes the difference between life being tolerable or a misery. Bullies can be very cunning and expert at getting away with it.

Bullying includes

- People calling you names

- Making things up to get you into trouble
- Hitting, pinching, biting, pushing and shoving
- Hiding your belongings
- Taking things away from you (e.g. your tuck)
- Damaging your things
- Using your clothes, toiletries and DVDs against your wishes
- Stealing your money
- Taking your friends away from you
- Spreading rumours (by gossip, text-message, voice-messaging, e-mail or the use of abusive websites)
- Threats and intimidation

A Statement of Intent

Northbourne Park School is committed to providing a caring, friendly, and safe environment for all its pupils, so they can learn in a relaxed and secure atmosphere. Bullying of any kind is unacceptable at this school. Ours is a TELLING SCHOOL. This means that anyone who knows that bullying is happening is expected to tell. Telling is NOT “dobbing in” or “grassing”.

If you are being bullied (or know someone who is) tell a friend, tell a teacher or tell your parents. It won't stop unless you do. It is hard to do this so if you don't feel you can do it in person it might be easier to write a note to your parents explaining how you feel, or perhaps confide in someone outside your family, like a grandparent, aunt, uncle or cousin.

Your Form Teacher needs to know what is going on so try to find a time to tell him/her when it won't be noticeable. If you don't feel you can do that, then contact another member of staff that you trust.

Try to stay in areas of the school where there are plenty of other people. Bullies don't like witnesses. If you are hurt at school, tell a teacher, or matron immediately and ask for it to be written down.

If you have a mobile phone, be careful who you give your number to. If you receive threatening phone calls, voicemails, text-messages or emails then tell your Form Teacher. It is a criminal offence to send offensive or threatening messages and if it continues, it can also amount to harassment. The police can, and do, take action. You must also speak to your Form Teacher if abusive things about you are published on interactive networking websites (like bebo.com), message boards or cyber-gripping websites.

If you see anyone else being bullied, please tell someone about it. Don't be tempted to try and sort it out yourself. Remember, people who are being bullied need friends so if you can help someone who is unhappy please do so.

If people are making nasty remarks about you then it may be because they are jealous or insecure.

The bullies work out what buttons to push to make you upset. They may make remarks about:

- Your weight
- Your looks
- The clothes you wear
- The colour of your hair
- The sound of your voice
- Your family
- Your schoolwork
- Your ethnic background

- If you have a disability
- If you are a different colour
- If you have dyslexia, dyspraxia or ADHD

One way of dealing with remarks is simply to say ... yeah, whatever, ... each time so that you show them that it isn't having the effect of upsetting you in the way they think. Or you can say clearly "I don't have to accept that".

If there's a ringleader then it's possible that other people who used to be your friends avoid being seen with you. They could be worried that if they go around with you they'll get bullied in the same way. Try talking to them individually to see what's going on

To have friends you also need to be a friend, and you can do that by trying to be open and friendly with people and asking how they are. This isn't always easy because sometimes the people you are nice to aren't nice back. People love talking about themselves so if you come across as a good listener then people will enjoy your company.

Body Language

Think about the last time you walked around school. How did you feel? Confident and powerful? Or timid and worried?

And how did you look to other people? Were you striding out purposefully with your head up, looking forward, or were you trying to make yourself look insignificant in the hope that the bullies wouldn't spot you?

Body language tells us a lot about other people. If you're trying not to be noticed and looking at the ground it can make you more noticeable. You look defensive and vulnerable. If you step out boldly you may not be very confident but you'll certainly look it.

Taking time off school

Sometimes, when you're very unhappy you might want to stay at home to avoid the bullies because you're afraid of what they might do to you. Always tell your parents how upset you are so that they can help you. You need their support.

Ask for Help

Sometimes bullying can make you feel very unhappy and upset and that life isn't worth living but you will come through it.

Childline and Bullying Online are available to help you 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. You can email Bullying Online on help@bullying.co.uk or ring Childline on 0800 1111 at any time.
